

Alphatag

Creating iXBRL files for your statutory accounts could not be more simple.

HMRC require companies to submit statutory accounts in an Inline Extensible Business Reporting Language (iXBRL) format, as part of a Corporation tax return.

Our Alphatag software application incorporates all the required tools and functions to fully manage the process of tagging statutory account documents prepared in either Microsoft Word or Excel.

KEY BENEFITS

- Built in controls and validation checks
- Mitigates business risk
- Enhances productivity

Key Application Features

Core Application

This application is designed to provide tax and finance departments with complete control over the preparation, management and creation of iXBRL statutory account documents. The simplicity of our application, combined with the easy interface, enables users to be up and running quickly and efficiently.

Automated Tagging

A fully integrated Data Dictionary brings high levels of control and reduces risk in the tagging of numerical fields within the statutory accounts. The system uses automated tagging for accounts prepared under the current accounting standards including FRS 101, FRS 102 and IFRS.

The software learns from previous tag allocations and applies this knowledge into an internal Data Dictionary for future tagging in later periods or other company accounts.

Implementation

The software platform is compatible with today's modern IT environment, with a simple installation process for both local and network environments, so the application can be up and running in minutes.

E-Filing To HMRC

To comply with HMRC requirements, all tagged accounts must be e-filed using a recognised corporation tax software application. Alphatag, Tax Systems' flagship product, is one of the UK's leading Corporation tax software solutions and can be used to e-file any Alphatag accounts to HMRC.

Summary

Our Alphatag solution streamlines the process of creating an iXBRL file in a seamless and cost-effective way. You will be partnering with an established supplier which has a reputation for software and support which exceeds industry standards.
